LEGISLATIVE AND POLICY CONTEXT FOR EQUITY, DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION EDUCATION THEMES

Canada's commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion is reflected in its Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the Canadian Human Rights Act, and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms is the supreme law of Canada and guarantees the rights and freedoms of all Canadians. The Canadian Human Rights Act is a federal law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, national or ethnic origin, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, family status, or disability. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms and the Canadian Human Rights Act are the foundation of Canada's commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion.

The Ontario Education Act, 1997, and the Education Act, 2001, provide the legal framework for the Ontario education system. The Ontario Education Act, 1997, states that the purpose of the education system is to provide a high quality education for all students, and to ensure that all students have the opportunity to succeed. The Education Act, 2001, states that the purpose of the education system is to provide a high quality education for all students, and to ensure that all students have the opportunity to succeed.

HOW DO WE KNOW WE ARE MAKING A DIFFERENCE?

A Reflective Tool for School and System Leaders on the Implementation of Ontario's Equity and Inclusive Education Strategy

The focus of Ontario's Equity and Inclusive Education Strategy is to ensure that all students have the opportunity to succeed. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- All students have the right to a high quality education.
- All students have the right to be treated with respect and dignity.
- All students have the right to be heard.
- All students have the right to be included.
- All students have the right to be successful.

The strategy is based on the following principles:

- All students have the right to a high quality education.
- All students have the right to be treated with respect and dignity.
- All students have the right to be heard.
- All students have the right to be included.
- All students have the right to be successful.

Making Connections: Renewing the Promise and Achieving Excellence in Ontario's Catholic Schools

Renewing the Promise is a strategic plan for the Catholic Education System of Ontario. It is based on the following principles:

- All students have the right to a high quality education.
- All students have the right to be treated with respect and dignity.
- All students have the right to be heard.
- All students have the right to be included.
- All students have the right to be successful.

The strategy is based on the following principles:

- All students have the right to a high quality education.
- All students have the right to be treated with respect and dignity.
- All students have the right to be heard.
- All students have the right to be included.
- All students have the right to be successful.

"Catholic schools are places where children and young people may find solid and enduring values to give hope, meaning and purpose to life through an authentic relationship with Jesus Christ..." Renewing the Promise
